The RP12 is a genuinely portable press, so compact and light it easily fits into cars. Lifting is easy using the handle between the pressure screws. And because the crank and bedplate remove easily, you can store your RP12 on a 30cm wide shelf in your home studio.

The press is robust, with direct drive by the comfortable, space-saving detachable crank handle. Full width relief printing is easily handled and intaglio processes can be printed at reduced width.

The RP12 is safe, with no hidden finger trapping points.

The composite material bedplate is effective, long lasting and safer than steel. It is fitted with bedstops and weighs less than 2kg.

Maintenance is minimal. The precision rollers are fitted with sealed ball bearings.

We deliver the presses to Pack & Send depots throughout Australia for an economical fee [email us for a quick quotation]. You can collect your press there or arrange for further delivery to your address. Cost of delivery is not included in press price above.

Freight prices:

What you need to be aware of is that all freight companies are charging extra to deliver to residential areas – we are expecting that this will increase in the new year (2020).

Where you can – to minimise the costs and issues regarding re deliveries etc. – it would be best to have this shipments either delivered to a Pack and Send store for collection – or alternatively to a business address that your customer may be associated with.
